Focus for this week.

The focus for this week was to have a catch-up on our progress and review the website design.

Progress Report

Week 7 was a super productive week as communication between all group members was at an all-time high. We had an online meeting on Monday, and it was mainly just a catch-up meeting where we showed what we have done so far. Nikita had a lot of work to show which was good to see, especially with the start of the website design. The team was happy with how it was going. We also had a lot of the report completed including Introduction, Risk Management, and Justification for Project Selection, and we have started the Business Case.

Week 8 was nothing like week 7 as communication was at a low. We had no meeting this week which as the project manager I didn't like but all the members had other work to do. Week 9 we plan on having a meeting in class and an online meeting to talk about what we need to get done. We still have time to get it done. As t
